

Certificate of Financial Responsibility

(CFR) 2024-2025

The U.S. government requires institutions to verify that F-1 students have sufficient funding to cover their educational and living expenses for at least the first year of study. This financial verification is required for the issuance of the I-20 Certificate of Eligibility and later for the F-1 visa application, if applicable. Only students intending to study on an F-1 visa need to complete the CFR.

COSTS:

The amount of funding required to be verified is a general estimate of expenses for one academic year at Meredith (2 semesters; 9 months). This amount is only an estimate and is subject to change.

- On-campus residents must show at least $63,598 in support ($45,630 for tuition/fees, $15,118 for living expenses, $2,850 for health insurance and textbooks over the first year of enrollment).
- Students approved to live off-campus (if living with an approved relative or you are over the age of 21) and beginning in the Fall or Spring term, you must show at least $53,918 in support ($45,630 tuition, $5,438 for living expenses, $2,850 health insurance & textbooks).

Plan for extra expenses for the summer. Students who wish to remain in the US during the summer should also have available at least $2,750 for the extra 3 months of living expenses. If you plan to attend summer school, you will also need an additional $385/credit for tuition and $36/credit hour for books. Note that Meredith scholarships do not generally apply to summer coursework.

FUNDING DOCUMENTS:

Documentation (for example, an official bank statement, a scholarship award letter, or some combination of documents) must be attached to this CFR verifying the availability of funds to cover the total amount listed above. If you are applying for scholarships, please wait until your Financial Aid Award Letter has been issued to know what the remaining balance is that you will need to document through your bank statements, etc. Funding documents submitted must be:

- Current. Date of issuance of the documentation must be within the past 6 months.
- Liquid. Funding must be immediately available for withdrawal. Therefore, statements of salary, credit cards, insurance policies, and property are not sufficient. Instead, consider getting a letter from the bank confirming the current account type and balance, a monthly statement from the bank with the balance available at the end of the month, etc.
- Detailed. Documentation must include the name of the account holder, the specific amount of funds available, the currency, and include an original signature or be on official company letterhead. Documentation must also be in or include English translation for these details.

INSTRUCTIONS:

Once you have all your funding documents lined up, you are ready to submit your CFR. To submit your CFR, please:

- Complete this form and make sure that it includes the signature from your financial sponsor, if applicable
- Attach the relevant (1) funding documents and (2) a copy of your passport biographical page
- Email your completed CFR, funding documents, and passport copy to the Assistant Director of International Programs, Ms. Jennifer Glass at jsglass@meredith.edu.
